

Biography for Noreen F. Weihe, MA, LMHC

A graduate of the Seattle University Masters in Psychology program in 2002, Noreen is a therapist in the Madison Park neighborhood of Seattle. She sees teens, adults and couples, and takes special interest in helping couples heal their relationship and regain closeness. Working with teens is an exciting challenge, as she enjoys helping them navigate the path to independence. Staying connected to Seattle University is an important value as is community work with the newly formed Matumaini Counseling, an agency formed by two SU graduates which serves low income African American youth and their families.
